Be Prepared for All Hazards with Customized Emergency Management Solutions

Jamie Caplan Consulting LLC is a full-service emergency management consulting firm. We develop customized emergency management systems for tribal governments and their businesses. Our emergency management systems comply with federal and state government regulations and gaming regulations. Our goal is to protect your people, your land, and your assets.

All hazards are considered including induced or multiple hazard situations, such as an earthquake that creates a fire and causes injuries. In addition, partnerships are created to ensure that communication is efficient and resources are shared appropriately.

"Jamie Caplan Consulting joined an impressive collection of disaster mitigation knowledge, experience, contacts and state-of-the-art modeling software with an extraordinary sensitivity and understanding for the local needs and concerns of our organization. Our plan was completed under budget, in a remarkably short period of time, and passed FEMA requirements with flying colors. I think Jamie Caplan Consulting is an excellent choice for disaster mitigation planning assistance."
